

Notice

Institute of Science and Technology Department of Electronics and Communication Engineering Session 2019-20: 2nd Semester

InshaaAllah, tomorrow (01.11.2020) we are going to start our 2nd semester class at 10:00 a.m. with the course 510827: Electronic Circuits-I.

I believe the name of this course will drive you enthusiastically to start regular study again after few weeks, as it is the first term of the name of our department. Certainly, you took admission in this department of Electronics and Communication Engineering with some dream to take yourself out of the stream of being a mere tech user, rather to be a tech-intellectual or an innovator or a tech-tycoon. But, almost year-long off-campus state due to the pandemic may have made you a bit crestfallen, however, now it is time to rejuvenate yourselves to learn curious things to pursue your dreams.

In the first semester you have learned things mostly familiar to you which will work as the base of the courses to be studied later. Now, 2nd semester courses are the core courses which will be the foundation of your tech-career. Therefore, it is high time to motivate yourselves to be attached to your online classes in full swing.

Nusrat Ferdous

Head of the Department
Department of Electronics and Communication Engineering
Institute of Science and Technology